

COUPLING MAINTENANCE

Altra Brasil Service Center for Flexible Couplings

Disc couplings do not require routine maintenance, however, other relevant points must be observed to guarantee their performance during operation.

Coupling maintenance after 36 months of operation can help avoid surprises during the harvest period. Often, these failures can leave equipment inoperative for long periods resulting in unforeseen costs.

Altra Brasil's Service Center specializes in coupling maintenance and repair with a team of highly trained engineers, giving us the confidence in our services to extend the warranty period for 12 months after the repair, as a new product.

- Complete inspection and reconditioning services
- Horizontal and vertical balancing
- Recommendation of spare parts to be replaced
- Failure analysis and inspection reports
